

Creating a synthetic dataset would involve coming up with scripts tailored to evoke specific emotions. Below are few examples:

1. Anger

Title: "The Unfair Game"

Emotion: Anger

Scene 1: Opening - At a local community basketball game

Description: Zoom in on a character, Mike, displeased by an unjust referee decision.

Voiceover: "At a community basketball game, an unanticipated serve of injustice leaves Mike livid."

Scene 2: Middle - Mike's confrontation

Description: Mike arguing hotly with the referee, spectators seeming surprised and scared.

Voiceover: "Angered by the bias, Mike takes a stand, voicing his disagreement, shocking everyone by his uncharacteristic rage."

Scene 3: Ending - Mike's Team lose the game

Description: The final results are announced, Mike's team lost. Mike's dissatisfaction is evident on his face.

Voiceover: "The unfair game ends, leaving the bitterness of defeat and fury lingering in Mike's troubled mind."

2. Happiness

Title: "Birthday Surprise"

Emotion: Happiness

Scene 1: Bedroom - Morning light Seymour's bedroom

Description: The soft rays of the morning beam on Seymour, who appears to be unorchestrated with a one-sided smile.

Voiceover: "Our unsuspecting birthday boy, Seymour begins his day blissfully ignorant of what's in store."

Scene 2: Kitchen - Surrounded by his family

Description: Irruptive laughter filled the kitchen when Seymour found all of his family around the table holding a birthday cake.

Voiceover: "A chorus of 'Happy Birthday' sung with love and affection immediately lights up Seymour's face."

Scene 3: Ending - Best gift from his sister

Description : After much anticipation, Seymour unwrapped his sister's gift to find a vintage comic book he'd been seeking for years, his joy knowing no bounds.

Voiceover: "An overwhelmed Seymour discovers the most treasured gift, his joy spilling out in heartfelt laughter."

3. Love

Title: "Blossoming Romance"

Emotion: Love

Scene 1: Opening - College library

Description: Jenny and Kevin serendipitously bumping and dropping their books.

Voiceover: "College library, books become the common factor, binding two hearts, Jenny and Kevin, in an unsaid affinity."

Scene 2: Middle - Coffee shop dates

Description: Laughter, companionship, and stolen glances over coffee cups, Jenny and Kevin realize they are falling in love.

Voiceover: "Through shared jokes, engaging conversations, and warming hearts, love quietly blooms in their cozy coffee dates."

Scene 3: Ending - Proclamation

Description: Kevin, under the starry night, professes his love to Jenny, who reciprocates with a smile.

Voiceover: "Underneath the spangled sky, love is proclaimed, reciprocated, and sealed with a sincere promise of forever."